Alumnus Spotlight: Terry Robinson

JLT Re, Actuarial Analyst

Class of 2008, MS, Actuarial Science

Terry became an actuary to spite a high school calculus teacher who defined the job as "something [he] could never do." He worked in a materials research lab through college and switched to actuarial work in 2012. Terry lucked out by starting his actuarial career in property casualty reinsurance, which involves the mix of mathematical challenges, cross-disciplinary teamwork, and Southern Hemisphere wines that he finds invigorating. He is one exam away from CAS associate-ship and when he passes his howl of triumph will be audible in space.

Terry loves sharing his excitement for both actuarial work and reinsurance as an Alumni Mentor, as well as joining the GIS Broad Street Run team. He's thankful for the reboot Temple and GIS offered him and the support of its dedicated staff.
