

PRESS RELEASE

31st Semi-Annual Gamma Games

February 13, 2017

Th-th-th-that's all folks!

On February 8, 2017, the Sigma Chapter of Gamma Iota Sigma held its 31st Semi-Annual Gamma Games in Pearson Gym. This semester's games were inspired by our favorite throwback cartoon characters! Members battled to determine the age old question of who truly is the greatest cartoon character. Guest appearances were made by Barney Rubble, Shaggy, Tweety Bird, and even Elmer Fudd had time to stop by in between hunting "wabbits!"

The games commenced with the Blind Balloon Pop, which had some of our characters dazed and dazzled, but ready to fight on! Characters showed intense concentration and quickness for Marble Runner and Kartrider, with their outstanding athletic abilities shining through during Tug of War and Dodgeball. Only the Pink Panther and Elmer Fudd were left standing as the final round of Dodgeball began. . .

It was through their high-speed throws and agility that team Elmer Fudd defeated their competition and earned the title of the 31st Semi-Annual Gamma Games Champions! Our winning team consisted of captain Max Courtney and members John Carberry, Jennifer Pratt, Zachary Smith, Tom Rosenbaum, Allen Lin, Peter Shen, Henry Fok, and Kellee Bedard. John and Zachary were both named MVP for their never quitting determination throughout the entire competition! When our favorite commentator, Bugs Bunny, asked the team what they were going to do after the games, they replied, "it's huntin' season, and we're huntin' wabbits!"
