Fall 2019 Actuarial Practice Case Competition

Thursday, November 21, 2019

On Saturday, November 2, 2019, Actuarial Science undergraduate students taking the Actuarial Practice: Group & Health Benefits capstone course participated in a case competition under the instruction of Professor Tim Luedtke. The students, paired in teams of four, developed assumptions and priced a long-term care insurance product. Actuaries from LTCG, a long-term care insurance consulting company, supplied the data and pricing model used in the exercise. The students were required to prepare an actuarial memorandum outlining their assumption development and pricing methodology, showing their proposed premium rates. Actuarial Science professionals served as judges for the competition and rated the students based on their written reports and oral presentations.

The following students were recognized for awards:
