Foundation for Agency Management Excellence (FAME) Scholarship Winners

Released: September 30, 2013

In 1994, The Council of Insurance Agents & Brokers (ciab) founded The Foundation for Agency Management Excellence (FAME) charitable educational organization. The Council founded FAME to promote leadership and excellence in the agent/broker community through agency management education, training, and research. In 2006 FAME launched a scholarship program with the intentions of encouraging more young people to consider the field of risk management and insurance as a profession. Looking ahead, FAME's goal is to build a true industry-wide scholarship program.

FAME Scholarship Winners:

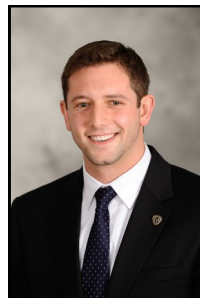

Tim Cornish

Steven Costa

In addition to the FAME scholarship, the CIAB also established a new scholarship gift from Assurex Global in memory of Robert P. Ashlock, a former president of 20 years and longtime industry leader. An exclusive partnership of the top independent insurance and risk management brokers worldwide, Assurex pledged a $125,000 gift over the next five years to fund the "Robert P. Ashlock" Memorial Scholarship, which will be granted annually at $5,000 to a risk management student at current FAME scholarship universities.

Assurex/Ashlock Scholarship Winner:
