Temple University Students Attend Vermont Captive Insurance Association (VCIA) Philadelphia Captive Road Show

Monday, March 11, 2019

On Tuesday, February 12, 2019, 29 students from Temple University’s Department of Risk, Insurance, and Healthcare Management attended the Vermont Captive Insurance Association (VCIA) Philadelphia Captive Road Show. Students were accompanied by Michael Zuckerman, a professor and academic director for enterprise risk management at Temple University, as well as Professor Norm Baglini, a retired professor from Temple University. Students had the opportunity to learn more about the captive insurance industry through a set of panels by industry professionals. Professor Michael Zuckerman had this to say about the VCIA Captive Road Show:

“Thank you for including our students in the Road Show. A growing number of our students want to work in the captive insurance industry. Our industry’s future is bright!”
