H. WAYNE SNIDER DISTINGUISHED GUEST LECTURER SERIES

Ed Boyanoski, CPCU, ARe (Class of 2008) Property Treaty Reinsurance Underwriter Munich Re

Wednesday, October 24, 2018, 12:00PM-12:50PM, Alter Hall 031

Ed Boyanoski is currently based in Munich, Germany, working as a Property Treaty Reinsurance Underwriter for the Global Clients division of Munich Re.

Ed majored in Marketing and Risk Management and Insurance, graduating from Temple University in 2009. After graduation, he began his career with the U.S. Operations of Munich Re, taking a position in the International Graduate Trainee Program.

After completion of the program, he accepted a Property Treaty Underwriting role based in Princeton, New Jersey, working with U.S. based regional and super regional clients. Given crossover with the global headquarters of Munich Re, this position led to an opportunity to work abroad in Munich, where his current focus is the structuring and underwriting of property reinsurance programs for clients with global insurance portfolios.

During his time with Munich Re, Ed has gained a broad range of global experience in traditional re/insurance as well as in the innovative areas of new strategic markets. He has worked with numerous clients based around the world, has assisted in the launch of global systems, participated in a number of global strategy projects, completed a strategic external exchange with Aon Benfield, and recently lead the development efforts for a new insurance product for the U.S. marketplace.

Ed has completed the Chartered Property Casualty Underwriter (CPCU) designation, the Associate in Reinsurance (ARE) designation, and is currently working towards completing the Chartered Financial Analyst (CFA) designation. His interests include photography, reading, movies, and travel.
