Bill Reindl

Vice President, Corporate Exchange

Aon Hewitt

Wednesday, September 25, 2013, Alter Hall 031 - 12-12:50PM

A key member of the Aon Hewitt Corporate Exchange Team, Bill drives innovation in the healthcare marketplace. He serves as a subject expert in the large employer market to help clients develop business and change management strategies and is responsible for overall business development in the eastern U.S. region. After joining Aon Hewitt, Bill was tapped to lead the business relationship with some of our largest national clients before once again asked to be at the forefront of another significant new employee benefit initiative as part of the Corporate Exchange Leadership Team.

With over 30 years of experience as an industry innovator, Bill is known as a consumer-driven healthcare plan (CDHP) thought leader and previously presented on this topic as a Temple University Gamma Iota Sigma guest lecturer a number of years ago.

Bill served on the various teams that developed and marketed the first industry CDHP, Section 125 flexible benefits and group long-term care products. He also co-led the effort to build consumer-driven health care capabilities, served as a public spokesperson and trained the national sales force to help establish CDHP market leadership for a major insurance company.

Bill earned his bachelor's in business administration from Providence College and his daughter is currently a Temple University student. He serves on the board of directors of the Mary Campbell Center, a home for the multiple handicapped in Wilmington, Delaware and as a team leader for Good Works, an organization in Chester County, Pennsylvania which helps low-income families repair their homes.
